

PEMBERTON TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS					LUNCH	FUN FACT! Fun Facts about December See other side for more. I'll have a BLUE Christmas! Those born in December are lucky to be able to choose from four gorgeous blue gemstones: Turquoise - Turquoise is found in arid regions where rainwater dissolves copper in the soil, forming colorful deposits when it combines with aluminum and phosphorus. Copper contributes blue hues, while iron and chrome add a hint of green. Some turquoise contains pieces of host rock, called matrix, which appear as the dark webs or patches in the material. Blue Topaz - While November boasts yellow topaz as one of it's birthstones, December takes the beautiful blue shade. Natural blue topaz is very rare. Most blue topaz found on the market was originally colorless, then treated via heat and irradiation to turn the stone blue. So while the topaz itself is real, its color was artificially added. Classified in 3 shades (light = Sky, medium = Swiss and dark = London), the shade of blue depends on the type of radiation method used.

Zoisite had been mined for more than a century and a half before this rare blue variety was found in 1967. Named for its limited geographic origin in Tanzania, tanzanite has quickly risen in popularity, but can carry a hefty price tag as it is only found on a few square miles of land near Mount Kilimanjaro. Most of the tanzanite on the market today is heat treated to minimize the brown colors found naturally and to enhance the blue shades that can rival sapphire. Blue Zircon - Zircon is an underrated gemstone that's often confused with synthetic cubic zirconia due to similar names and shared use as imitation diamonds. Few people realize that zircon is a spectacular natural gemstone available in a variety of colors. Like other stones, heat treatment can bring out vivid blue or sky blue colors and they are sometimes referred to by the trade names: starlite or stremlite.
