New Year - First and Last

Each day starts at the International Date Line - so where does midnight strike first? Tonga, Samoa, & Kiribati Island - also known as Christmas Island - and a string of 10 other mostly uninhabited islands in the central Pacific Ocean will be the first to ring in 2024. Despite lying directly south of Hawaii, Kiribati Island will celebrate the New Year nearly a full day earlier.

American Samoa is one of the last places to ring in the new year. It is actually the second to last place behind Baker and Howland Island, which are both uninhabited.

Some tourists take advantage of the time difference by flying from Samoa to American Samoa (about a 40 min flight) to celebrate twice.

FUN FACT!

Historians call it “the song that nobody knows.” And yet we’ve all tried to sing it on New Year’s Eve. Why do we sing “Auld Lang Syne” to ring in the New Year?

“Auld Lang Syne” is a Scots phrase that means “for old time’s sake.” The song begins by posing a rhetorical question: Is it right that old times be forgotten? The answer is generally interpreted as a call to remember long-standing friendships:

*Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
and never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
and auld lang syne?*

Before Dick Clark’s New Year’s Rockin’ Eve television special, a radio show featuring Guy Lombardo and the Royal Canadians was the centerpiece of most families’ New Year’s Eve traditions. From 1929 through the mid-1970s, Lombardo closed each show with “Auld Lang Syne,” which increased the song’s familiarity among American households.
